

Go Deeper . . .

Use these questions for further study individually or in a small group

What is the difference between a tithe and an offering?

Is this a new distinction for you?

Is it important for us to make this distinction? Why or why not?

Giving is commanded as an act of obedience, yet it is also an act of worship. Does this feel contradictory to you? Why or why not?

Leviticus 2:2, Acts 10:4, & Philippians 4:18 all describe offerings as being pleasing aromas to God. What do you think of this image?

Have you ever considered that your gifts and offerings bring actual pleasure to God?

How does this make you feel?

How might this reality inform what, how, why, or when you give?

Scripture describes instances of extravagant gifts publicly given as part of worship (e.g. 1Chronicles 29 & 2Chronicles 7), yet it also commands us to give in secret (Matthew 6).

Is there an inherent contradiction here?

Are there specific times when one approach is more right or more worshipful than the other?

What role does a person's heart or motivation play here?

What are one or two ways you can take practical steps to live into giving as an act of worship?

Go Deeper . . .

Use these questions for further study individually or in a small group

What is the difference between a tithe and an offering?

Is this a new distinction for you?

Is it important for us to make this distinction? Why or why not?

Giving is commanded as an act of obedience, yet it is also an act of worship. Does this feel contradictory to you? Why or why not?

Leviticus 2:2, Acts 10:4, & Philippians 4:18 all describe offerings as being pleasing aromas to God. What do you think of this image?

Have you ever considered that your gifts and offerings bring actual pleasure to God?

How does this make you feel?

How might this reality inform what, how, why, or when you give?

Scripture describes instances of extravagant gifts publicly given as part of worship (e.g. 1Chronicles 29 & 2Chronicles 7), yet it also commands us to give in secret (Matthew 6).

Is there an inherent contradiction here?

Are there specific times when one approach is more right or more worshipful than the other?

What role does a person's heart or motivation play here?

What are one or two ways you can take practical steps to live into giving as an act of worship?